Think of honey bees—apis mellifera—as the smallest and most industrious of farm-workers. As they flit from flower to flower in search of nectar, which they use to make honey, they transfer pollen from flower to flower. This is called pollination. Without pollination, many plants would not be ...Honey is collected from wild bee colonies or from domesticated beehives. On average, a hive will produce about 65 pounds (29 kg) of honey per year. Wild bee nests are sometimes located by following a honeyguide bird.. To safely collect honey from a hive, beekeepers typically pacify the bees using a bee smoker. The smoke triggers a feeding instinct (an attempt to save the resources of the hive ...Received quickly and in good shape..extracted approx. 20 pounds of honey first use with no problems, works as advertised for a manual type extractor, will be used for years until can afford an electric powered type, did not use the legs that comes with unit, sit it flat on table and had someone help hold it steady and it worked fine that way...no issues, would buy again.
